

Boating Industry > News > Nanni signs new West Coast distributor

Nanni signs new West Coast distributor

Nanni Industries

May 7, 2015

Filed under News

Nanni has a new importer to represent the brand on the West Coast of USA: RDI.

RDI was formed in 1990 as the U.S. West Coast distributor for MAN high speed engines for both pleasure craft and commercial vessels. From now on RDI will provide the Nanni products and services with nationwide deliveries, after sales support, service facilities and genuine spare parts for the West of USA.

RDI has a service location in Costa Mesa, California and a temporary Alaska service center during the fishing season and their technicians travel extensively.

With this new partnership Nanni expands its international network with more than 90 exclusive importers in the whole world.

Like 378 Share Share 302 Tweet 0 g+1 0 Share

Tags: Nanni

Most Read

- Boating Industry 2015 Top Products
- Survey: Ethanol major factor in engine damage
- NMMA sued over Miami boat show
- Weekly 5: New Jersey boat dealers indicted on 34 fraud counts
- BRP signs Cobalt Boats

Related Posts

- Nanni Industries signs with new U.S. importer
- Weekly 5: Boat show's $600 million impact sealed Miami deal
- Pursuit Boats adds Alexander Marine of California to dealer network
- Optimistic Miami show sets tone for the year
- Weekly 5: Coast Guard reauthorization passes committee

nextgearcapital.com